Ordnance Officials Say Largest Types of Naval Guns Now Being Made Cannot be Tried Without Endangering Life and Property Nearby.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Enlargement of the government reservation at Indian Head, Maryland, where the navy's big guns are tested, is being urged by ordnance officials who say the largest types now being made cannot be tried out on the proving grounds without risking destruction of life and property nearby.

An official of high rank today cited a recent experience during the firing tests of a sixteen-inch rifle. One of the shells, although fired by a reduced charge of powder, penetrated a mass of heavy armorplate, passed thru the sand dunes behind it and ricocheted into a nearby residence wrecking the structure and narrowly missing its tenants.

In another case a shell dropped into the front yard of the commandant's residence. It is recalled also that the Gunboat Dolphin, with a congressional committee aboard was narrowly missed by a shell several months ago while passing up the Potomac. The projectile fell so close that it spray spread over the Dolphin's decks.

The president saw no callers today but divided his time between playing golf and working on correspondence. He plans to spend tomorrow and Monday quietly at Shadow Lawn unless he should be called to New London.

SUGGEST CONSTABULARY FOR BORDER POLICE DUTY

JOINT COMMISSION CONCLUDES SEC-OND WEEK OF DELIBERATIONS

General Bliss Gives Commission
Statement of Conditions he Believes
Will Follow Gen. Pershing's Withdrawal from Mexico Before Constabulary is Created.

New London, Sept. 15.—A suggestion that the Mexican government create a constabulary for border duty similar to the rurales of the Diaz regime was made today during a brief session of the American-Mexican joint commission concluding the second week of its deliberations.

The three Mexican commissioners left for New York tonight to join in the celebration there tomorrow of the Mexican national holiday, arranged by consular officials.

General Bliss, it was learned, made to the joint commission today a dispassionate statement of the conditions he believed would follow General Pershing's withdrawal from Mexico before a properly constituted constabulary is created to relieve his troops. It is understood he pointed out problems in the way of an effort to create a border police under dual authority.

There is reason to believe the American commissioners have sought to impress their Mexican conferees with the view that Mexico must recognize responsibility for the depredations her nationals may commit on the border if good relations are to be unimpaired.

The theory is that a force of carefully selected mounted police could be disposed in small posts in the hill country. The chase would become an individual pursuit rather than a military movement which becomes ineffective if the bandits scatter and mingle with peaceful residents. The police would check up the comings and goings of every man in a suspected community.

Moving swiftly, and unhampered by women camp followers who form the commissary of a Mexican military force the rurales, it is believed, could do much toward putting a permanent check on brigandage.

POINT TO NEED OF SYSTEM OF WATERWAYS

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—The imperative need of a great system of inland waterways and coastal canals, which in addition to providing commercial advantage would be of inestimable military value in time of war was pointed out by Secretary Daniels of the navy department and Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations in addresses before the members of the Atlantic deeper-waterways association at the Philadelphia navy yard today. The ability of submarines to traverse these inland canals and of battleships to find a haven there in case of invasion was cited by both speakers as one of the greatest arguments in favor of the establishment of the system.

BRITISH FORCES SMASH GERMAN LINE

Make Probably Most Notable Advance Since
Offensive Began

IMPERIL TWO POSITIONS

British, French and Serbian Armies Gain Additional Successes
in North Macedonia

BULGARS RETREAT 12 MILES

Smashing the German line on a front of six miles north of the Somme in France, the British forces have made probably the most notable advance since the Anglo-French offensive began July 1st.

Three towns, two woods and the possession of nearly all the high ground between Comblès and the Pozieres-Bapaume road fell to the British. Not only did the Germans lose these points but the British drive imperils the Comblès and the Thiepval positions at either end of the high ground north of Comblès, give the British command of the approaches to Bapaume.

The advance on the northern end of the front was for a distance of two miles. Courcellette, east of Thiepval and north of the Pozieres-Bapaume road, and Martinpuich, south of the road, fell into the hands of General Haig's men.

Farther south they took Fiers and the High wood making secure their possession of Ghinch. The Bouleaux wood north of Comblès also was lost to the Germans.

The Germans under Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria fought stubbornly to hold their ground London says and the fighting was severe all along the line.

More than 2,300 prisoners were taken by the British. Aiding the British in the encirclement of Comblès, the French have taken additional trenches north of LePriez farm.

South of the river, three German trenches near Berny-En-Santerre were taken by the French who also captured 200 prisoners. Berlin claims the repulse of British attacks southeast of Thiepval and of French efforts between Rancourt and the Somme. The official statement admits the loss of LePriez farm west of Rancourt.

In Northern Macedonia the British, French and Serbian armies have gained additional successes breaking down the Bulgarian defense on the center and on the left wing. French troops took Bulgarian positions half a mile deep on the front of one mile. West of Lake Ostrovo, the Serbians captured Malkanidze. The British attacked west of the Vardar and also gained ground.

New Wrinkles at Illinois State Fair.

Visitors to the Illinois State Fair, which opened its gates Friday for a ten days' engagement, will find that the management this year has introduced a number of innovations with a view to contributing to their comfort and welfare. A tented city, believed to be the first ever established at a State fair, has been provided for the accommodation of those visitors who have a hankering after the outdoor life. All the New England States are to be represented in the movement, which will aim at a solution of some of the important economic problems that have come to the front as a result of the decline of New England agriculture and the steady increase in the manufacturing population. First and foremost among the matters to which the proposed organization will give its attention is the problem of the high cost of living. Among the active promoters of the movement are Theodore N. Vail of Vermont, R. Livingston Beekman of Rhode Island, Nathaniel I. Bowditch of Massachusetts, and Wilson H. Lee of Connecticut.

Illinois Hogs.

In The Farmers' Review this week will be found reports from more than half of the counties of Illinois on the hog supply. The editor says in commenting them: "They indicate that the state will not have as many hogs to market this fall as last, which was not a good year on account of foot-and-mouth trouble; that hogs are late, and will have to wait for new corn before being fattened; and that cholera is scarce. Reports from some other states also indicate that the bulk of last spring's pigs will go to market a little later than usual this fall. If hog prices stay high this fall doubtless a greatly increased number of sows will be bred for

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

FRIENDS

It's hard to know who are your friends, so many men have selfish ends. I take a comrade to my heart, and feed him pie and dunsen tart, and give him love that's pure and deep, and let him in my woodshed sleep. Then he requests, in dulcet tones, that I shall lend him twenty bones. "I'd gladly lend you all you need," I say in answer, "but indeed, H. C. of L. has stripped me bare—I haven't twenty backs to spare. If fifty cents will help you out, you're welcome to that much, old scout; but I've a wife and nineteen kids, who all are needing shoes and lids, and it's as much as I can do to dig up for that loving crew." And then my friend comes round no more, to hang his bonnet on the floor, and talk with me of vital things of sealing wax and cats and kings. Instead he roasts me thru the town, and tries to give me punk renown, as being one who is too tight to help a comrade in a plight. This sort of thing one gets from friends, as thru this woozy world he wends.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

September 16, 1788—Congress, in considering Jay treaty with Spain "Resolved, that the free navigation of the river Mississippi is a clear and essential right of the United States, and that the same ought to be supported and considered as such."

next spring's fattow. This year's markets have been of the sort to make a man hanker for more hogs. The history of the hog industry has shown a strong tendency for big pig crops to follow short ones, but as in other sorts of livestock production the man who spends less time guessing on markets and more breeding and feeding lands best in the long run.

The Passing of the Street Fair. Street fairs persist under tribulations and police surveillance, says a St. Louis writer. The original street fair was a unique novelty. Organized by merchants of smaller towns at first, communities the size of Jacksonville. It resembled somewhat the bazaars of oriental countries in its boothlike structures, built at the edge of the curb, open on all sides, and hung with gay draperies. Many will remember Jacksonville's first attempt in this line and how the merchants got together, worked and boosted the affair. It was a great success. It brought the crowds to the heart of the business district. It brought hundreds of people to the city. It made a gala week. The people responded at once to the new attempt to entertain them and the fair was thronged. Made festive with brass bands and a merry-go-round or two, pop-corn stands and wiener-wurst peddlers, perhaps a few clowns or masquers, it afforded several hours of amusement to people, while the innumerable objects which now fill the 10-cent stores were offered for sale.

When the amateur management of the merchants ceased and street fairs began to be professionalized, being composed of a variety of shows, they lost their local character and originality. Even now, if they could be capitalized and conducted by concerns of as high standing as of the big circuses, street fairs might win a substantial and lasting popularity.

But the movies have shouldered aside so many promising projects that they might prove too much for the street fair, tho rejuvenated. For the fairs must have new features every season as every other diversionary demand.

Have Brotherhoods Been Bunkoed?

There appears to be some merit in the point raised by Mr. Samuel O. Dunn of Chicago in an address to the delegates to the convention of the Railway Signal Association at Mackinac Island, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. Dunn, who is editor of the Railway Age Gazette, asserts that the Adamson law in fixing eight hours as the standard of a day's pay prohibits the railroads "from paying any employee in train service a day's wage before he has done at least eight hours work." There are said to be many runs, particularly on passenger trains, that take less than eight hours, but for which all trainmen making them get a full day's pay under the present system. A trainman, as we understand it, is now paid a full day's wage for any part of a day he may work. If Mr. Dunn's contention is sustained, trainmen working less than eight hours would not be paid for the full day, but for the fractional part of it. That is to say, if the rate is $5 for an eight hour day, he would be paid but $3.75 for a six-hour run, and it would be a violation of the law, subjecting the railroad to its penalties, to pay any more.

The law states that eight hours "shall be deemed a day's work and the measure or standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation." But it also says that, pending the report of the commission it creates, and for thirty days thereafter, the compensation of employees affected by the act "shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage." The validity of Mr. Dunn's claim must rest upon the interpretation of the latter provision. If he is right, then the brotherhoods have been deprived of one of the privileges for which they have fought hard and long.

But whether he is right or wrong, there are a number of things about the law that may prove objectionable to the brotherhoods and to labor generally. In the first place it arrogates the "hundred miles or less" provision of the agreement now in force. It puts all payments on a time basis. At present they are on an optional time or mileage basis. Presumably it cancels all rules and agreements that may be in any way in conflict with the law. It subjects the trainmen as well as the employees to the operation of the law, and establishes the principle of government control of wages, which if made effective by judicial approval, puts the remuneration of labor engaged in interstate commerce in the hands of Congress or of a board operating under the authority of Congress. Whether all this is good for labor or bad for labor is a matter for labor's consideration.

MAY INCREASE RACE Indianapolis, Sept. 15—The owners of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway are contemplating increasing the annual race on Decoration Day at the track to 500 miles next year, and hanging up a purse of $50,000. The race has been 500 miles each year until this year when it was reduced to 390 miles, and the purse made $30,000. According to a report the officials believe the longer race is better.

RESULTS OF PRIMARY ELECTION
CONTESTS IN NEARBY COUNTIES

Illinois College Graduate Republican Nominee of Greene County for State's Attorney.

The nominees who were chosen by the Republican and Democratic parties for various county offices in Cass, Greene and Pike county are given in the brief summary of results below:

Greene County.

The only contest on the Democratic county ticket was for state's attorney. Judge J. C. Bowman incumbent, won the nomination over Adrian Edwards by 77 majority. B. F. Ford was renominated for circuit clerk and Irving Wetzel for surveyor and Thomas H. Carmody was named for coroner, all without opposition.

The Republican county nominees, also without opposition, are Joseph Lyman, for circuit clerk, U. W. Wright for state's attorney, and Dr. S. F. March for coroner.

Pike County.

In the county contest on the Democratic ticket John C. Dinsmore defeated Henry Bowers, who was a candidate to succeed himself, as circuit clerk, by a small majority. Edwin Johnston also defeated George C. Weaver for State's Attorney by a majority of about 500. Frank Johnson of Milton was nominated for coroner.

There were no contest on the Republican county ticket. In the legislative district, Senator McNay was renominated, also Strubinger and Hoffman. Thompson was nominated on the Republican ticket.

Cass County.

In Cass County the Democrats polled 85 per cent of the total voting strength and the campaign, which up to the last few days had been a quiet one, ended in a whirl wind finish.

In the county contests the Democrats nominated L. D. Springer for circuit clerk, A. T. Lucas for state's attorney, Dr. Lyons for coroner and Robert Loudon for county commissioner.

For representative in the general assembly, Judge Dietrich of Beardstown was given a splendid vote in Cass, estimated at more than 3,500.

In the county the Republicans nominated Walter Remerscheid of Ashland for circuit clerk, Lloyd M. McClure for state's attorney, W. M. Shute for coroner, all without opposition. Robert H. Mann of Virginia was nominated over John C. Brech for county commissioner.

OFFICIAL RETURNS FROM SANGAMON COUNTY

The official returns from Sangamon county on representatives to the general assembly on the Republican ticket are as follows:

Frisch	10,203
Lyon	5,662 1/2
Pavey	5,937 1/4
Hildreth	913 1/2
Dunn	2,314 1/2
Green	1,478 1/2

These figures show but little change from the unofficial figures given out and as there is little prospect of much change in Morgan county it is probable that Lyon and Frisch will be the Republican candidates.

The work of canvassing the vote in this county was temporarily halted Friday owing to some discrepancies in number of the country precincts. This necessitated in sending out for some of the judges and the clerks in the districts in question and it is probable that the final results will not be had before this afternoon. On the precincts that have been canvassed no changes have been made.

WILL INVESTIGATE GAS PRESSURE.

As a result of a number of informal complaints made to Judge Owen P. Thompson of the state utility commission regarding the gas pressure in Jacksonville experts from the commission are here making an investigation.

Breeman Fletcher has been here for several days and on Friday was joined by Stanley P. Farwell, chief of service bureau of the commission. The men will make a report to the commission and steps will then be taken by that body to order such changes as may seem necessary to bring the pressure to the proper standard. It is not known whether the refusal of the city officials to the laying of the two mains to the west end of the city will have any effect on the experts in making their report.

A JOKE THAT FAILED.

Tried on "Stonewall" Jackson, It Aced the Wrong Way.

"Major Thomas J. Jackson, later the famous 'Stonewall' Jackson, was our instructor in mathematics and drilled the students in artillery tactics," said General Armstrong, an antebellum graduate of the Virginia Military Institute. "Old Jack," as the students called him, with his worn uniform, faded cap, usually perched at a ridiculous angle upon his big head, rusty old cavalry saber and ungraceful gait, was in appearance far from our beau ideal of a soldier. Nevertheless it was possible even then to guess at the real greatness of the man.

"The guns we used in our artillery drills were pulled by hand. As the drill would proceed our instructor would become transformed into the very semblance of Mars himself as, with form erect, waving sword and flashing eye, he would give the command 'Fire!' in a voice that rang over the campus like the blast of a bugle.

"One day in a spirit of mischief the students who were drawing the gun pretended to lose control of it as it moved rapidly down a gentle incline directly toward Major Jackson. But the commander, instead of scuttling out of the way, as the boys had gleefully anticipated, stood sternly erect and immovable right in the track of the gun.

"I tell you there was some lively hustling and just in the nick of time, too, to keep Old Jack from being run over. That was our only attempt to play a practical joke at Major Jackson's expense."—Youth's Companion.

FAMILY DINNERS.

In England They Flourish Mainly at Weddings and Funerals.

Family dinners are rare in England. They flourish only at weddings and at funerals, especially at funerals, for mankind collected enjoys woe. But other occasions—birthdays and Christmas—are shunned. Christmas especially, in spite of Dickens and Mr. Chesterton, is not what it was, for its quondam victims, having fewer children and being less bound to their aunts' apron strings, go away to the seaside or stay at home and hide.

That is a general change, and many modern factors, such as travel, intercourse with strangers, emigration, have shown the family that there are other places than home, until some of them have begun to think that "east or west, home's worst."

There is a frigidity among the relations in a family, a disinclination to call one's mother-in-law "mother." Indeed, relations-in-law are no longer relatives; the two families do not immediately after the wedding call one another Kitty or Tom. The acquired family is merely a subfamily, and often the grouping resembles that of the Montagues and the Capulets, if Romeo and Juliet had married. Mrs. Herbert said charmingly in "Garden Oats," "Our in-laws are our strained relations."—W. L. George in Harper's Magazine.

How Centipedes Walk.

An eminent authority has investigated the peculiar wavy motion of centipedes and millepedes to determine the manner in which these animals manage to use their superabundant pedal extremities so gracefully and harmoniously. It has been found that the legs move in groups or waves, each wave including a definite number of legs. The number of waves included in the length of the body is constant for each species. In millepedes the waves of each side are synchronous. In centipedes they are symmetrically alternate, giving rise to beautifully accordant movements. The difference may be explained by suggesting that the millepede moves like a pacing horse, the centipede like a trotter.

Branding Criminals.

The branding of criminals was abolished in 1778. Until then this punishment was inflicted in open court, generally in the presence of the judge, the necessary implements—the iron brand, the chafing dish and the iron gripper for keeping the hand steady—being always in readiness. The usual brand was an "R" applied to the left shoulder. Child stealing, etc., however, were at one time punished by branding the offender with "R" on the shoulder (for rogue), "M" on the right hand (for manslaughter) and "T" on the left hand (for thief).—Pall Mall Gazette.

Perforated Stamps.

The man who invented perforated sheets of stamps made a big fortune out of the idea. It is said to have first occurred to a hunting man who wanted to stamp a letter, but could not lay his hand on knife or scissors. He suddenly thought of his spur. Running the rowel along, he perforated the edges of the stamp, tore it off and thus started a revolution.—London Tatler.

Transformation.

An English farmer had a number of guests to dinner and was about to help them to some rabbit when he discovered that the dish was cold. Calling the servant, he exclaimed, "Here, Mary, take this rabbit out and eat it and bring it back a little 'otter!'"

LOTS OF FISH.

Since the sealing season opened the fishermen at nearby Illinois river points are reported to have brought in large quantities of fish and the market has been overstocked. All of the smaller fish are thrown back into the water. Carp, which constitute the biggest part of the catches, is selling as low as one cent a pound.

Many of the fishermen have expressed themselves in favor of a law prohibiting the use of seines at all seasons of the year. This would reduce the quantity of fish caught and prevent flooding the market. While the fishermen would not be able to catch as many pounds of fish, they would get more money for the number of pounds they catch.

NEW LUBRICANT RESISTS HEAT PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours, black sediment is formed which partially clogs out the remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

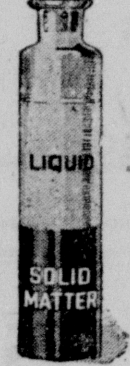

stable and therefore unserviceable because of non-heat-resisting chemical structure. Special processes of manufacture developed by this company and the use of Pennsylvania paraffine-base crude oil give Vedol, the new lubricant, its unusual chemical structure, and its remarkable heat-resisting ability.

Make this test

Clean out the crank case. Fill with kerosene. Run the motor about thirty seconds under its own power; then draw out all kerosene and refill with Vedol.

Now make a test run over a familiar road—up steep hills and along straight, level stretches. Keep a record of oil and gasoline mileage.

You will find that your motor has altogether new pickup and hill climbing ability. Vedol enables you to get the maximum mechanical efficiency from your car and to reduce your expenses. Get a five-gallon can of Vedol, and make this convincing road test.

Relative Oil Destruction

The contents of the bottles shown, illustrate the relative durability of ordinary oil and of Vedol. The new lubricant that resists heat. Vedol deposits only a small fraction as much sediment as ordinary oils.

There is a fundamental difference between ordinary oils and Vedol. Ordinary oils are un-

REPUBLICANS TO HAVE HEADQUARTERS IN WEST

NATIONAL COMMITTEE WILL ESTABLISH QUARTERS AT DENVER.

Action is Decided Upon With View to Giving Attention to Congressional Campaign in Mountain and Pacific Region

Washington, D. C., September 15.—Announcement was made here today that the National Republican Congressional Committee will establish western headquarters at Denver, with a view to giving direct attention to the congressional campaign in the Mountain and Pacific Coast states, and to the senatorial campaigns in California, Washington, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona. In four of these states, Nebraska, Montana, Nevada and Arizona, the terms of democratic senators will expire on March 4th, next, and the Denver headquarters of this committee will direct special attention to the campaign in these states.

Western headquarters will be in charge of Congressman Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming and will work in cooperation with National headquarters in Washington where the campaign is directed by Chairman Frank P. Woods and Congressman T. W. Miller of Delaware, secretary of the executive committee and its active subcommittees, in charge of the following chairmen:

Ways and Means, Hon. John J. Esch of Wisconsin.

Finance, Hon. Richard W. Austin of Tennessee.

Literature, Hon. Julius Kahn of California.

Publicity, Hon. Simeon D. Fess of Ohio.

Law, Hon. George S. Graham of Pennsylvania.

The Denver office of the Congressional Committee will be the most western headquarters of either national republican committee.

Now that Congress has adjourned and the campaign in Maine is over resulting in a great victory for the Republicans, the National Republican Congressional Committee which up to this time has been exceptionally active will carry its work into all corners of the United States.

The speakers' bureau under the direction of Congressman C. Bascom Sloop has done a vast amount of work and has many of the major details of the speaking campaign worked out to the end of the contest. From now on a branch of the speakers' bureau will be located in Chicago where Mr. Sloop will be represented by Mr. J. R. McCarl of Nebraska.

It is the peculiar function of the Congressional Committee to marshal the salient features of the legislative and administrative record and place it before the people of the country. Upon the information thus supplied depends largely the issues of this and every other political campaign.

As a result of the earnest cooperation of the subcommittees and the Senate Advisory Committee, of which Senator Weeks is chairman, it is believed the preliminary campaign work of the republicans is far in advance of their democratic opponents.

SOME FARM THEMES

HAS 3100 ACRES OF CORN

Some Planted June 28 Promises 50
Bushels Per Acre

A. W. Orr, manager of the Fairbanks ranch in Greene county stated recently that they have 3100 acres of corn growing on the ranch this season, and he expects it to make 60,000 bushels, which, considering the adverse conditions that have prevailed during the season, is very good. He has one field planted June 28 that, if frost holds off a reasonable time, he is confident will make fifty bushels per acre. Some of the corn was planted as late as July 4, and is now in the roasting ear state.
Just now the rare busy on the ranch filling the silos.

Buy Feeding Cattle

The government report on corn has failed to measure the crop properly with any degree of accuracy.
There will be more of it than indicated by the federal board of estimators and a plentiful supply of rough feed is assured for winter handling. Fall grass is bound to be good, generous rains having been had during recent weeks over a wide area of middle western and eastern territory.

These are favorable conditions as viewed by the cattle feeder. One more favorable situation is the relatively cheap basis of prices now current for thin steers.

Feeding cattle of kind good enough for most any fatterer can be secured in the market now at a range of $6.50 @ 7.00, and 17.25 @ 7.50 is buying a strictly good class.

Such prices should prove a strong attraction to the cattle feeder. They should induce much heavier buying of thin steers than has been witnessed in recent weeks.

A year ago there was grave uncertainty over the corn prospect and a great portion of the crop was soft.
This year there promises to be little soft corn and a fairly generous yield of good corn. The price of corn is high, naturally. So are all other feedstuffs, but the price of fat steers is likewise high and bound to continue so.

There is nothing in the present situation which should check buying of feeder cattle. A broad beef demand is bound to be had for months ahead. Prosperous America is a big consumer of beef and Europe is calling for a greater amount of our surplus product than in many years past.

As long as this demand condition prevails there should be little hesitancy on the part of cattle feeders to load up freely. Just now the prices for thin steers are lower than they will be a few weeks hence, when, with corn matured and a big supply of rough feed available, a rush to lay in winter supplies is likely.

The time to buy feeders advantageously is when they are more plentiful in the market than is the demand. That time is right now.

If feeding and stock steers were looked upon as a good buy last spring, when a majority of them in the market cost $7.50 @ 8.00, and even up to $8.50, then they are a far better buy today with prices
a round dollar lower.—Drover's Journal.

A Progressive Farm Manager

A. W. Orr, manager of the big Greene county ranch belonging to Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican nominee for Vice President, was engaged in county adviser work in Indianapolis before taking charge of the Fairbanks property and knows what a county adviser can do for the farms of a county. He is a bit curious to know how it happens that Greene county has not advanced in farm progress to the point of securing a county adviser. As in Morgan county, the matter there has been under consideration for several years, and a few farmers, as here, have shown enthusiasm for the project.
But sentiment has not reached the sticking point. Orr declares the renters in the drainage districts especially need an adviser's help, and he is confident that the owners of the big ranches would help in paying for such an expert. With the government aid now provided, it should not be difficult to raise the necessary fund in any county which really desires the services of an adviser. Anyhow, Greene and Morgan county are losing their share of the government aid every year they fail to take advantage of it.

Mr. Orr believes not only in advanced methods for the farmer, but also thinks the farmer's wife needs help and advice in her work. He recently, at his own expense, brought a woman lecturer from the University of Illinois, and provided a five days course of talks on domestic science for the farmers' wives on the Fairbanks ranch.

A NECESSITY

Mrs. Collier Says Could Not Keep House Without Black-Draught.

Hardin, Mo.—Mrs. J. W. Collier, of this town, who knows from experience of the merit of Black-Draught Liver Medicine, has following to say for publication: "I want to let everybody know that I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for many years, and it is just what is claimed for it. I am never without Black-Draught, and really I couldn't keep house without it. Whenever I feel bad, I take a small dose, and feel better right away."

I advise everybody who suffers from liver or stomach trouble to use Black-Draught Liver Medicine."

For three-quarters of a century (75 years), Thedford's Black-Draught has been regulating irregularities of the liver, stomach and bowels, and has long been recognized as the standard remedy. It is a fixture in thousands of homes as the main stay of the family medicine chest.

If you have not tried it, get a package from your nearest dealer, today. He sells it in 25c and $1.00 packages, making it cost you only one cent a dose.

GIVES VALUABLE POINTERS IN REGARD TO HOLDING COLT SHOWS

Timely Information for Local Horse Show Enthusiasts Given by Indiana Horseman.

Now that announcement has been made in regard to the holding of a horse show in Central Park this fall in connection with the annual fall festival, it might be timely for members of the Chamber of Commerce and others who are enthusiastically backing the venture to read the practical suggestions which appear in this week's issue of The Breeder's Gazette from pen of one H. E. McCartney, a member of the Indiana Stallion Enrollment Board.

Mr. McCartney in discussing the management of a colt show has the following to say:

"The success of a colt show depends mainly upon the men in charge. A broad-minded committee will have in mind a greater field than merely the awarding of prizes. It will be clear that there is an opportunity to create a lasting enthusiasm for horses and to establish a show that will be held annually with an increasing number of entries. Shows have been successful in the beginning where conditions in the beginning were unfavorable. Successful shows are the result of good management."

"There are many instances where the enthusiasm of one man is mainly responsible for the success of a show. In one such case a young man moved into a locality where many of the farmers were raising big horses. An inspiration to hold a colt show seized him. He was told that a fall fair had been attempted and had failed. He was advised that he was located in the one place of the entire state where absolutely nothing could be done. He was not beaten back or discouraged. He was merely made to realize the seriousness of the task before him. The first man who offered active co-operation was the local veterinarian. Then enthusiasm began to spread. The city commercial club voted $150. The merchants raised $93 in addition. Farmers and breeders throughout the country began to express an interest. The young man referred to was put in charge of arrangements, with the veterinarian as his chief helper. The show was successful in every respect. Entries were more than the most optimistic expected. People came for 20 miles to see the show. There were more people in town than ever a circus had drawn. Some skeptics said, 'The prizes offered will never be paid, just as the fair association has not paid the prizes it offered.' These people were pleasantly surprised. Cash was paid on the grounds just as soon as the prizes were awarded. The show has grown so that four years later 3 days were required to conduct it. The premium list has been extended to include purebreds."

"In advertising a colt show it must be realized that two ends are to be sought—entries and attendance. Newspapers are a big help. Local editors are more than willing to boost. Posters and handbills and premium lists are necessary. Perhaps the best advertising is the personal work done by those interested. To keep the people thinking about the show interestedly and enthusiastically is the purpose of advertising. The management must keep at it."

"When the day of the show arrives everything must be in readiness or else something may miscarry. Attractive ribbons must be on hand. Ribbons are not expensive and should be set down as an absolute necessity. Cash prizes should be paid at the time the award is made or else before the stock leaves the ground. This is necessary in order to create confidence and in order to keep the confidence of the exhibitors and the public."

"A judge should be secured who is capable of rendering decisions and who is capable of stating reasons to the interested spectators for his placings. People appreciate it if the judge will give a short talk or demonstrate after he has placed each class. It adds to the educational value and to the interest of the show. A place should be arranged for the showing so that it can be pulled off without interference from the crowd. If the street is used a portion of it should be roped off. Too often has the work of the judge been made difficult or even impossible by the crowd being allowed to stand close to the animals. As a show grows it may have seating arrangements made for the crowd and a permanent inclosure built. Under no circumstances should the crowd be allowed to mingle among the animals on exhibition until after the judging has been completed."

"An 'on time' spirit adds zest to the entire show. A feeling that a square deal has been given to everybody is one of the things necessary for continued success. The people who have backed the show must be made to realize that it has been more than worth while. The spectators must feel that they have had the best day of the year and that they have seen the best colt show anywhere. The exhibitors must leave in a well-satisfied mood. Good management will not let the enthusiasm from one show wane before laying plans for a bigger and better show in the future."

Misses Elizabeth F. and Lucy Sturtevant arrived in the city last evening from their home in Kushla, Alabama, and will be the guests of Mrs. James I. Barrows for a number of weeks. The ladies are daughters of the late Dr. J. M. Sturtevant, president of Illinois college and will enjoy a time here among friends who highly esteem them.

QUIVER BEACH RESORT SOLD

Four Canton Men Close Deal—Consideration $75,000

Quiver Beach resort, comprising in all about 600 acres, 400 of which is under water and used for fishing, has been sold by Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Brown to Benjamin S. Negly, George B. Rohrer, William Hanlon, and Carl Beams of Canton. The deal involves a consideration said to be close to $75,000. Mr. and Mrs. Brown take as part payment a Peoria flat.

The negotiations have been on for several weeks. The purchasers were represented by D. W. Pittman and J. W. Dickson, Jr., of Lewiston. The property is a valuable one. During the fourteen years Mr. and Mrs. Brown have conducted the place it has grown in popularity as a summer resort and people are attracted there from all sections of the middle west.

Aside from the land and water, the latter of which is perhaps as valuable as the former, there is a 20 room hotel, 30 skiffs and three gasoline launches. There are also several cottages that are used for rental to those who may prefer a cottage to the hotel.

The new owners will form a stock company and double the capacity of the hotel, enlarge the dance pavilion, erect a new bath house, and build several more cottages. They have great faith in the possibilities of the resort and are willing to back their judgment with their money in an effort to make this the most famous resort in the middle west. The improvements will all be completed in time for the opening of the season in 1917.

Rev. J. E. Artz of Ashland was down to the city yesterday looking after some of his parishioners who are seriously ill in hospitals here. The genial gentleman is much pleased with his charge and glad to be returned for another year and his people rejoice also.

Trains continue to pour forth large crowds from every station at all hours and never before has such an enormous crowd entered Springfield on the opening day as there has been this year.

At the grounds as usual on the opening day, completing touches are being administered to various exhibits and pleasure producing instruments. Tomorrow everything will be primed and the regular program will be carried out as planned by the board.

Aviation and Polo games will have the lion's share of the entertainment for the day. English and American teams will compete for honors in the Polo games, while Laddie Laird will startle the crowd with his death-defying actions in the bird machine.

Bands from Danville, Peoria, Bloomington and Decatur are satisfying the music-lovers' desire for all class of music at all hours of the day.

Hughes Will Speak Tuesday. It was announced definitely today, by Charles M. Tinney representing the national committee, that Charles E. Hughes, republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, would be in this city next Tuesday, and will speak at the State Fair grounds at the Exposition building in the evening.

A SCHOOLHOUSE PLAYROOM. Miss Miriam Kenyon, teacher of the East Liberty school near the residence of Frank E. A Perfect Dependable, Economical, Wood
Coal and Gas Range

The Three-in-one Majestic

The combination coal, wood and gas Range without too much mechanism; no levers to turn or twist—to get out of whack or be mis-handled.

It is the simplicity of the Majestic Combination that has made it so popular. Not a thing to change in your oven—just turn on the gas. Can be attached to your own Majestic and heat your reservoir (if its on the back end of your range.)

$7.50

This gas attachment on a new Range is $7.50. On an old Range $7.50 plus the time of attaching.

Renowned Gas Saver Burner

Mixes 40 to 50 volumes of air with one volume of Gas.

REMEMBER—only these gas burners used to heat the entire top, oven and reservoir, and they burn less gas than the top burners only of an ordinary gas Range. The same burners that heat the top heat the oven and reservoir.

DETROIT K. C. OFFER QUARTERS TO EVANGELIST BILLY SUNDAY

First Time Doors of Knights of Columbus Club House Have Been Thrown Open for Such an Evangelical Campaign.

Billy Sunday who held a six weeks meeting in Jacksonville in 1908 is still stirring things up. He is at present holding a revival in Detroit. The meetings are proving a great success and the Knights of Columbus have offered the use of their quarters to the evangelist. The Detroit Times has the following relative to the offer.

For the first time in Detroit, the doors of the Knights of Columbus clubhouse have been thrown open to a religious gathering, other than a Catholic gathering, free of charge. The exception is made in the case of the Billy Sunday campaign. The precedent is important, and is so regarded by those to whom the generous offer has been made.

E. H. Doyle, president of the Knights of Columbus Building Co., has written to Dr. A. G. Studer, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and secretary of the executive committee in charge of the Sunday arrangements, proffering the use of the building.

Mr. Doyle said Monday that the action did establish a precedent, and added: "Billy Sunday never came to town before. We think he is the greatest evangelist of his kind of all the time. There is only one like him. The work he is doing is a good work and we all wish him well and want to contribute. Our building is our clubhouse and we need it. It is not without sacrifice that we offer it to the Sunday organization, but we are glad to make the sacrifice that we may contribute in that way to the success of the meetings. Billy Sunday will make the city better and the Knights of Columbus want to help him to do it, as do all decent people."

Mr. Doyle's letter to Dr. Studer follows:

"Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.

"My dear Doctor Studer:
"The Knights of Columbus with much pleasure hereby tender the free use of its clubhouse, No. 930 Woodward avenue, for you in any way beneficial to the Sunday revival in this city.

"It is conveniently located to your tabernacle, and if you get as much pleasure out of its use as it gives us to aid in this good cause, we will be more than amply repaid.

"Very cordially yours,

"E. H. Doyle,
"President K. C. of C. Building Co.

OUR OPENING DISPLAY, ALL OVER THE STORE, ESPECIALLY IN THE MILLINERY, READY TO WEAR AND CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENTS, WILL BE CONTINUED TODAY. WE WILL WELCOME A VISIT FROM LADIES WHO WERE DISCOURAGED BY THE BIG CROWD OF YESTERDAY OR WERE OTHERWISE KEPT AWAY.

AFTER THE PRIMARY. When we voted at the primary I hoped the peoples' choice. Would fall upon the ones I liked. Thus making me rejoice. For I had picked my candidates. And felt sure they would win. But when they didn't I tell you it filled me with chagrin. I wanted 'round a little. Just telling every one. That I believed the voters. Hadn't very wisely done. But after thinking for awhile. 'Bout the men upon the slate. I'll lay aside my prejudice. And vote the ticket straight.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH BY MR. & MRS. HERMAN

DELIGHTED THROGS FILL THE MILLINERY AND READY TO WEAR STORE FROM MORNING UNTIL NIGHT

The Display Admitted on All Sides to be Unsurpassed by Any Establishment in This or Any Other City.

Altho the weather was chilly yesterday and many hesitated to venture forth the millinery and ready to wear store of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herman was crowded from morning till closing time. Mr. and Mrs. Herman spent a long time in the cities of the east selecting from the choicest stocks in the land their superb array of goods in the millinery and ready to wear line and as usual their reputation for reliability will be fully sustained by the goods they have bought and the large corps of skilled trimmers under the able leadership of Mrs. Herman.

This house which has won such an excellent reputation for honest dealing was established in Jacksonville in 1890, 26 years ago, and the trade enjoyed by it is a fine testimonial to the standing Mr. and Mrs. Herman have in this community and vicinity.

A large force of polite ladies was on hand yesterday and made every effort to please and entertain all who called and none went away dissatisfied. The store was at many times so crowded that it was impossible to give the individual attention which the proprietor wished to bestow on each caller but any shortcomings in that line will be attributed to the great number of visitors.

The house is now ready for orders for millinery or ready to wear goods and satisfaction is assured.

ANNUAL FALL OPENING PROVES A SUCCESS

CROWDS ARE LARGE AND WEATHER PROVES IDEAL

Displays are Artistically Arranged Setting Forth to Advantage the Latest Modes and Styles in Each Line of Merchandise.

A day crisp and cool, with just enough frost in the air to make a wrap feel comfortable, and crowds of sufficient size to tax the capacity of many stores, combined to make the 1916 fall opening a success in every particular. Numerous display set forth to advantage the newest fashion and the most up to date make in all lines of merchandise. In each store there were exhibitions of goods and styles peculiar to the season and all desiring to become acquainted with the latest offerings could do so without trouble. The decorations were a special feature in many of the stores. Autumn colors predominated and the goldenrod was often seen in the ferns and other potted plants were many times employed.

Greens and purples are much in evidence in all lines of woman's apparel. Many were the displays showing articles of woman's dress in lavender and the various purple shades and this coloration was carried out in hats and trimmings, dress goods, ribbons, hosiery and veils. Gold and silver laces were featured in ladies' ready to wear departments. Plaids and poplins were shown to good effect and one store had a pretty window exhibit of hand made materials.

In the matter of new and stylish goods the dealers in men's furnishings are in no wise behind handed. Browns and chevrons are popular in men's suitings, and in some of the stores were displayed handsome heather shades. Indications are that sport coats will not be worn so much this season and sweaters and sweater vests will in some measure take their place. Dealers in men's lines have received good assortments of these and the sweater will no doubt prove as popular this winter as was the case in past seasons.

The hardware trade had much to show with interest. One store featured an under-feed cook stove along with oil heaters for the cool days and shucking mitts for the coming harvest. Fountain pens and tools made up another firm's exhibit and fine cutlery was set forth to advantage by another.

In ladies' shoes the high top will continue popular. The brighter shades are passing out of fashion and the fall and winter months will see an increase in brown and two-tones. Men's shoes include a wide variety of styles in blacks and English tans. The latter lasts are much in evidence this season. Notable features of the exhibits in jewelry are sterling hand hammered silver and Sheffield silver of excellent finish. Some hand hammered silver plaques displayed by one firm represented the best skill of the silversmith's art.

Furniture displays were tastefully arranged and showed the very latest in home furnishings to good effect. One firm had a very fine selection of the newest in rugs and floor coverings.

No effort had been spared to make the windows examples of beauty. A number of many colored birds was a noteworthy feature of one store's exhibit. Of ladies' ready-to-wear there were some especially handsome displays and there is no firm which has cause to regret the labor spent toward the success of this year's fall opening.
